Gifts For the Mourners. Some delver into the musty old records of Harvard has brought to light an amusing provision with which one of the college's eighteenth century friends coupled what was for his time a very generous bequest to the Cam-

Mr. Thomas Brattle was the testator's name, and his interest in Harvard evidently extended to the individual members of its undergraduate body, for after leaving £200, then the equivalent of about $3,000, to the college for its general uses his will gives half a crown to every student belonging to it who should attend his funeral, Unfortunately no account of Mr. Brattle's obsequies is extant, but there can be little doubt that the occasion was made solemn by the presence of a large number of "chief mourners" and that good wishes for the deceased were generally and feelingly expressed.

There Is a Difference. City Editor-Why do you say, "He ran into the police station puffing and blowing?" "Puffing" and "blowing" are synonymous. Reporter-Not at all. There's a vast difference, for instance, between puff-ing a man up and blowing him up.— Catholic Standard and Times.
